Summer camps offer exciting, hands-on activities for kids at the Clay Center

(Charleston, W.Va.) 6/9/08 – Kids can get in on some summer fun with the Clay Center's all-new Discovery Camps. Each camp runs from 10 a.m. to noon and provides a fun-filled, hands-on educational experience. It's the perfect way to add excitement and learning to any child's summer vacation.

The schedule of camps includes:

- Physics Phun!, Tuesday – Friday, July 8 – 11, grades K – 3, $45 for members, $55 for non-members – It's all physical as you study Newton's Laws of motion, magnetism, energy and light! Activities will take place in the classrooms, outside and even in the science galleries.
- Film Making 101, Monday – Friday, July 14 – 18, grades 2 – 6, $55 for members, $65 for non-members – Discover the world of movie making with this interactive workshop. Students will write, direct, design costumes and star in an original production. The week concludes with a Hollywood-style premiere. Students will also receive a DVD copy of the movie created during the week.
- Earth Moon and Stars, Tuesday – Friday, July 22 – 25, grades K – 5, $45 for members, $55 for non-members – From the Earth to the Moon, experience a real-life scientific adventure! With rocks, fossils and animals on Earth and space travel to the Moon and beyond, this camp includes a wide variety of earth and space activities and experiments. This camp is sold out. Waiting list is available.
- Art Grab Bag, Tuesday – Friday, July 29 – Aug. 1; grades K – 5, $45 for members, $55 for non-members – Get creative with a week-long art extravaganza! Students will explore sculpture, drawing, painting and other art forms during the week and finish the week with an art exhibition for all to enjoy!

Pre-registration for each camp is required, and space is limited. Camps are filling quickly, so call 304-561-3555 now to register. This program is sponsored by Heiner's Sara Lee Bakery.
